Gentlemen:

JUNIPERS

The seeds of the new season's crop of the following Junipers are now ready. The best results are secured either by planting the seed now or stratifying it in damp sand or peat moss. It should be kept in a cool place not over 40° in temperature for spring planting.

JUNIPERUS COMMUNIS, Common Juniper. Seed collected in Vermont. An upright variety with grayish-green foliage and valuable for formal effects.

JUNIPERUS COMMUNIS CANADENSIS, Prostrate Juniper. This low-spreading Juniper, with its long trailing branches of dark green, is very popular for its landscape effect.

JUNIPERUS COMMUNIS MONTANA (NANA), Mountain Juniper. Forming broad patches of spreading compact growth.

JUNIPERUS SCOPULORUM, Colorado Juniper. A tall-growing variety, with glaucous or yellowish-green foliage. Seed is collected in the Rocky Mountains.

JUNIPERUS VIRGINIANA, Red Cedar. Tall and slender, giving the same effect as the Italian Cypress, it is one of the most popular Junipers. It is also used as a stock plant and is useful for forestry planting, for fence posts, and pencil making.

JUNIPERUS VIRGINIANA, Platte River type. A form of the above, growing in the Platte River district.

Listed below are the prices of these seeds. Simply check the varieties you desire. Return this letter in the enclosed envelope and your order will be promptly forwarded to you.

Very truly yours,
